TURKEY TO DEMAND HER RIGHTS, SAYS ISMET PASHA

Will Remain Faithful To Franco-Turk Agreement

ALLIES AS ONE

Harrington Announces He Has Orders From Government

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Nov. 15.—Ismet Pasha on his arrival in Paris this morning made the following statement to the Temps:—

"Resolved to obtain respect for her rights as defined in the National Pact, Turkey remains faithful to her engagements and particularly to the Franco-Turkish Agreement. We do not wish to strike a blow against the French schools; we wish to do nothing against the legitimate interests of French commerce.

"In the situation in which the Near East finds itself, a day lost may bring about regrettable incidents. I hope that nothing will longer delay peace."

The Stefani Agency of Rome announces that the situation at Constantinople presents certain dangers but is not very serious.

TO ACT WITH ALLIES

General Sir Charles Harington has informed the Allied Generals that he has received from his Government orders to act in perfect solidarity with the Allies. Sir Charles Harington has received a promise that the Turkish gendarmerie will no longer cause embarrassment in a zone of 15 kilometres from Chanak.

The Bulgarian Legation in Paris issues a categorical denial to the report that M. Savoff, the Bulgarian Minister in Paris, will be appointed to a similar post at Constantinople.

Constantinople, Nov. 15.—Rafet Pasha tomorrow will present to the Allied High Commissioners a note which states that the Assembly does not admit the right of foreign interference in administrative and civil affairs but that it intends to respect the Mudania Convention.

BREACH IS HEALED

Paris, Nov. 15.—As a result of the interview between Lord Hardinge and M. Poincare it is understood that the divergencies between France and Britain with regard to the Near East policy no longer exist.

PEKING ORDERS ARREST HERE OF MR. FU SIAO-EN

Local Merchant Charged With Being Implicated In Political Plot

A Presidential Mandate under date of November 14 orders the arrest of Fu Siao-en, Supervisor of Reserves in Chinese banks at Shanghai and manager of the Commercial Bank of China, and his trial in accordance with law, according to the Sin Wan Pao and the Hsin Shen Pao yesterday.

Fu is charged, according to the message, with having intrigued with Anfuite outlaws to create disturbance in Kiangsu and Chekiang, furnishing funds for the rebellion in Fukien, usurping the rights of navigation and other serious offences. He resides on Avenue Joffre in the French Concession.

The local military authorities, however, are said to be siding with Fu in this matter and telegrams were sent to Peking exonerating the accused. Complaints were recently made in Peking against Fu and, as a result, the Ministry of Communications as well as the Central Government deputed two commissions to make investigation of the charges. The mandate was issued following the report made by the commissions, it is understood.

Several local organisations will hold meetings in connection with the case. The Ningpo Association held a meeting yesterday afternoon. It decided to wire to Peking to inquire into the facts of the case before taking any definite stand. Fu, when questioned by friends, said that he would fight the case.

Smiles From The Mixed Court

BY J. L. BUTTS

THE Sikh watchman employed to guard the alleyway entrance of Messrs. Whiteaway, Laidlaw and Company's store was doing so the night before last when he observed Yang Pau-zee and Tsha Sih-doo emerge from the emporium with a brace of dustpans and dash excitedly to the garbage box.

Now the watchman knew that Yang and Tsha were engaged by the company to sweep up the floors after business hours, and also that their labors necessitated trips to the refuse receptacle; but in all his experience he had never noted either of them to be excited or in a hurry about his work before. Moreover, he thought he saw Yang shake something white and bulky from beneath his jacket into the bin, between sprinklings from the dustpan.

When the renovating delegation had retired inside the watchman investigated. Beneath a shallow strata of debris he uncovered a white pasteboard box, which proved to contain a shining new pair of boots—of the same brand which retails to us unfortunate leather-addicted Westerners at $21.50 per set. With the boots under his arm, the Indian waited for the reappearance of the pair, after which there was a vociferous pilgrimage to Central Police Station.

In a wonderful imitation of the tones of righteous indignation Yang addressed the Mixed Court bench yesterday to the effect that he knew nothing whatever of any boots. If the boots had got into the dust bin, why then they must have been left on the floor by some careless clerk and got mixed up with the legitimate sweepings. And was he to blame for that?

Tsha declared that he had no use whatever for boots. He and Yang were simply engaged in cleaning up when interfered with by the watchman.

The Court thought so too and ordered them thirty days apiece.

A GAY BLADE PASSES

ALL up and down the cavernous reaches of Shanse Road and in the gilded environs thereto the fame of Kyeu Ah-foh reverberated, with a rising tone which threatened to blot out all minor keys.

In the gay grots where the giddier members of the ricsha yankers' and the barrow propulsors' guilds gathered of evenings for a festive fling, Kyeu was the nightly theme for exclamation.

It was whispered that he had been seen at Tsing Ah-foo's fashionable dispensary on the corner setting 'em up in genuine 40 H. P. gaoliang of Tsing's preferred stock to the whole crowd. From the leading teahouse of the district came the report that he had flashed a roll of notes of the approximate circumference of a section of firehose. It was said he had stood sponsor to a four-handed session with the dominoes for four nights running in the most elite gambling emporium of the neighborhood. It was common knowledge that Kyeu traveled with a wake of thirsting, famishing young bloods a block long and the swath he slashed among the fairest of feminine Shanse Road was certainly disheartening to the average run of knights.

The old stagers shook their heads skeptically over some of these excited reports but all admitted that as a spender Kyeu was a total eclipse to any rollicking roisterer since the good old days.

Among those to whom came these dazzling tales was Detective Yi-Vung. Now Det. Yi knew Kyeu as a humble pilot to a public ricsha and it was hard for him to associate the youth with the word wealth.

On a certain night, Kyeu said, he had taken an obviously absent-minded sailior as fare. Having conveyed him to his destination he bent to smooth out the cushion for the next passenger and his hand encountered a roll of bills totaling twenty Mex. dollars. Of subsequent events his recollections were somewhat hazy, but he protested that he didn't know he should have notified the police of his find.

Kyeu really needed the three days' rest the Court ordered for him.

SALT MONEY COMPLICATES SITUATION IN FUKIEN AREA

Generals Threaten To Rob Foreign Bank To Get Funds

PROTEST IS MADE

British Gunboat Sends Party Ashore To Deter Them

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 16.—A serious situation has arisen in Fukien as a result of the effort of Generals Wang Yung-chuan, Hsu Chung-chih and Lin Sen to obtain possession of the salt revenues lying in the banks at Amoy and Foochow.

It is reported from Foochow that they are detaining the Chinese salt inspector there and have appointed their own man to replace him, also that they have threatened to use force in order to obtain the transfer of the salt revenues, amounting to $253,000 in the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank at Amoy, $70,000 in the same bank at Foochow and $20,000 in the Bank of China at Foochow. The report adds that the Foochow manager of the Bank of China has been arrested in order to force the surrender of the last-mentioned sum.

As the Powers' rights under the Reorganisation Loan Agreement are involved the French, British and Japanese Consuls have protested to the authorities and a landing party from H. M. S. Hollyhock have mounted guard over the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank at Foochow.

The advent of a new party under General Tsang Chi-ping has added a fresh element to the uncertainty of the position of affairs in Fukien. It appears that General Tsang's expulsion of General Li Hou-chi implies neither sympathy toward General Hsu Chung-chih nor hostility toward General Chen Chiung-ming but merely his ambition to dominate Fukien.

The question therefore arises as to whether General Chen will not ally himself with General Tsang, notwithstanding the fact that advances are being made by General Li Hou-chi, as an agreement with General Li would undoubtedly throw General Tsang into the arms of General Chen's enemies at Foochow.

LIU OFFERED AID

Peking, Nov. 16.—Admiral Liu Kuang-hsiung arrived in Peking this morning. He will interview the President today. Before leaving Tientsin Admiral Liu received a telegram from General Tsang Chi-ping saying that the latter was maintaining order at Amoy and offering his hearty support in Admiral Liu's position as Pacification Commissioner in Fukien.

The Admiral has informed the President that he does not desire to take troops to Fukien and thinks that the reinforcements from the other Provinces should immediately be recalled.

RUSS STEAMER IS IN AWKWARD PREDICAMENT

White Soldiers Want To Come To Shanghai, But Cannot Quit The Ship

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, November 9.—The Russian Volunteer Fleet steamer, Tomsk, which has arrived at Otaru with 60 White soldiers from Kamchatka, finds herself placed in an awkward predicament owing to the political change at Vladivostok, which the captain had learned by wireless message en route to Japan. The steamer can hardly return to Vladivostok with the Whites on board, and her captain is much exercised about the disposal of these soldiers.

The officer in charge of the troops has applied for assistance to the Japanese police, it being his intention to proceed to Shanghai, for which they lack sufficient funds.

The steamer is without fuel but the Mitsubishi firm refuses to supply coal unless the Whites are discharged.

VLADIVOSTOK IS JUBILANT OVER ANNIVERSARY

Reds Parade With Banners Carrying Slogan Of Far East Unity

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, November 10.—The demonstrations at Vladivostok in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the revolution were marked by the display of banners with inscriptions such as welcome to the Soviet, Consolidation of the workers, Unity of the Far East but there was no show of opposition to foreign interference as was the case in the past.

All the Red and Socialist papers are jubilant saying that after the lapse of five years the soundness of Lenin's policy has been recognised by the public. They further assert that the present is a most important period, that the state of affairs in Russian must be restored to a normal condition and that Russia must win the admiration of the world.

PRINTERS STRIKE

About 150 Chinese printers employed at the Shanghai Press, Ltd., a Japanese concern at 32-33A Haskell Road, went on strike Wednesday, demanding increases in wages ranging from 20 to 40 percent. The company made a compromise offer on a flat raise basis and it was expected that the matter may be settled today.

SIMMS MAKES ADDRESS

After an informal reception in which he greeted the representatives of official bodies Mr. Simms delivered the following address:

Ladies and Gentlemen.—On the occasion of the formal opening of our Municipal Administration Building, on behalf of the Council I extend to the Ratepayers and their families a hearty welcome, and I trust that this cursory visit to our headquarters will bring home to you something of the magnitude of the work devolving on those responsible for the driving of the Municipal machinery. It has become a big and intricate machine, and from what I can see it is bound to go on becoming bigger, but I think you will agree with me that on the whole it runs with a minimum of friction, and the community is to be congratulated in possessing a staff who are worthily maintaining Shanghai's high tradition for honest and efficient Municipal Administration.

It is a great pleasure to see here today so many representatives of the Consular Body, a sure proof that all is well between our International masters, and their humble servants the Council.

Through the Chairman and members of the French Council whom we are glad to have with us, with representatives of the French Municipal Service, we offer greetings to our neighbors in the French Settlement. Close cooperation between the two Municipalities is essential, and I need hardly say there never has been any difficulty in maintaining it.

To General Ho Feng-ling and his Staff we extend a hearty welcome, and I would take this opportunity of expressing the Council's appreciation of his cooperation, and of telling him how much we value his assistance and goodwill where Chinese interests are concerned.—We also thank him and others for the beautiful congratulatory tablets also the photographs presented to us, which you will see around the walls of this room.

Vice Admiral Tu, Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese Fleet has I regret been prevented from attending but I wish to thank him on the Council's behalf for the tablet which he has so kindly

There has been a sensational Labor sweep in Glasgow where they gained eight seats, two from the National Liberals and six from the Conservatives.

None of the women candidates have so far been returned.

TO GALA NIGHT

London, Nov. 16.—Election night in London was the occasion for gay festive scenes comparable with occasions of national rejoicing. There were crowds in the West End thoroughfares especially in Piccadilly, Oxford Street and Trafalgar Square, dazzlingly lit by electric light and whirling advertisement signs.

The multitudes increased as the evening progressed with the packed theaters emptying and the people streaming to town from the suburbs after learning the results of their constituencies at first hand.

Rattles, whistles and squeakers were vigorously used and the air was thick with confetti.

The flashing of the first election figures on numerous improvised public screens shortly after ten o'clock raised the joy-seekers' enthusiasm to the highest pitch.

ASKS SOVIET TO GIVE RAILWAY BACK TO CHINA

Waichiaopu Answers Complaint Of M. Joffe By Demand For Line's Return

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 15.—In a note addressed to M. Joffe, dated Nov. 11, the Waichiaopu requests the Soviet Mission for a declaration of its attitude regarding the return of the Chinese Eastern Railway to China.

Acknowledging previous communications from M. Joffe with regard to the Chinese Eastern Railway, the Note states that the Chinese Government has made every effort in the last two years to effect reforms in the Administration of the Chinese Eastern Railway. It adds that the Chinese Government will investigate the alleged cases of mismanagement referred to by M. Joffe. If they are genuine it will punish the offenders.

With regard to the Russian proposal for the establishment of a new provisional administration to replace the present management of the Railway the Chinese Government regards this proposal as proof of the great importance which the Soviet attaches to the Railway but it deems it necessary to a satisfactory solution of the present difficulties that the Chinese Eastern Railway be handed over entirely to China and therefore, it requests the Soviet to declare once more its intention of returning all its rights and interests in the Chinese Eastern Railway to China without compensation.

The Chinese Government also requests a clear statement on the subject of the rumoured pending occupation of the railway by soviet troops, which, it points out, would be contrary to the spirit of the forthcoming Sino-Russian negotiations.

sent and to extend a welcome to the representatives here.

WELCOME COMMISSIONER

We have with us Mr. Hsu Yuan, Special Commissioner of Foreign Affairs in Shanghai, the connecting link between us the Consular Body and our Chinese neighbors, and I am glad to say our relations with him continue to be of a most cordial nature. We welcome him and his able lieutenant, Chevalier S. K. Chen whose assistance in many matters during his long association with the Bureau of Foreign Affairs has been invaluable.

We are glad to have with us other Chinese Officials too numerous to mention individually, who have kindly attended here today.

We welcome the Chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and through him the Members of that important Commercial Body. We also welcome the many representative bodies foreign and Chinese who have kindly sent delegates to offer their congratulations.

We have present with us representatives of the Nantao and Chapei Municipalities who are also cordially welcome. So far our intercourse has been painfully official, but I trust as time goes on we can get closer together, and that greater intimacy will remove misunderstandings, formidable looking in official correspondence, but quickly removed on a closer understanding of each other's point of view, which can only be realised by personal contact.

Lastly but not least, our Chinese Advisory Committee are specially welcome as we look upon them as the channel through which greater co-operation will flow between Chinese and Foreigners. By adopting a wise and tolerant policy this Committee can do great things and on those terms they can depend on our help and sympathy.

HARMONY

A gathering such as this is a striking proof of international harmony in Shanghai. On a small scale we are a good example of what a League of Nations should be. We depend on tact courtesy, and a policy of give and take to see us through our difficulties, but where we come up against a selfish policy, we are severely critical. Our cosmopolitan life here teaches us to soar above the mists of jealousy, and to be tolerant towards the different points of view of the many nationalities represented here. We have, I think, a clearer vision how Nations can pull together than would appear to be the case at home, where since the Great War statesmen have been apt to overlook the fact that united effort in saving the World is as essential as it was in putting out the conflagration of 1914-918. International jealousies are inclined once more to peep above the scene, but let us out here in China use our great opportunity to foster good feeling by practising international tolerance and unselfishness.

THE BUILDING

Turning now to this building which stands as a monument to our civic progress, a few particulars will be of interest to you.

As far back as 1904 the necessity for providing a suitable building to house the Municipal Departments began to be apparent, but it was not until 1912 that the Council appointed a special Building Committee to collect all available data for drawing up a schedule of requirements for the projected new building. The members of this Committee were Councillors Harry de Gray, Chairman, who on his departure from Shanghai was succeeded by Mr. A. W. Burkill, G. E. Clark and H. Figge, with the assistance of Messrs. T. E. Trueman and E. S. Little, and the Heads of Departments. Based upon the schedules thus approved, the Council's Architect, Mr. R. C. Turner prepared a series of designs, the best of which were submitted to the Ratepayers in a Special Report issued in March 1913.

The final design was then placed before the President of British Architects in London, who suggested that justice could only be done to the design by executing it in granite instead of artificial stone as was originally intended.

The contract was given to Yue Chang Tai and signed in October 1914. The work was commenced forthwith, but the war and its far-reaching effects including the loss of many shipments through submarine warfare resulted in delays, and these were greatly increased by various changes in the program outlining the future occupancy of the Building.

EIGHT YEARS WORK

It became apparent when the shell of the building was nearing completion that the Electricity Department could with advantage be housed in it, which involved a redistribution of offices and prolonged delays in interior work.

The Building was finally completed this year thus taking nearly 8 years or longer than Solomon's Temple,—though it must not be forgotten that the first Department moved in over 2 years ago and all have been in occupation for the past year and more. The area covered by the new building is 12 mow, the compound occupying an additional 3½ mow. The floor area (exclusive of the Drill Hall) is 50,000 sq. ft. The Drill Hall is 180 feet long by 102 ft. wide and 50 ft. high. The roof was constructed by the Shanghai Dock & Engineering Co. There are 400 offices in the building and it will interest you to know that the total foreign staff is in the region of 800. The automatic telephone has been installed throughout. The building is constructed of Soochow Granite, reinforced concrete and brickwork in cement, with steel frame windows by Hope & Sons of Birmingham.

IN BLACK AND WHITE

The general entrances and corridors are paved with vitreous mosaic tiles supplied by Malkin and Co., England, but the main entrances and stairs to Council rooms have been treated in black and white marble, by Tan-kai and Co. The low pressure hot water system was designed by Mr. W. W. Hobbs, London, who also arranged the heating plant for the London County Hall. The interior decoration, panelling, and parquet flooring have been executed by Arts and Crafts, Messrs. Weeks and Co., having designed and manufactured the furniture. The Volunteer Club rooms have been arranged on the 3rd floor facing Honan and Foochow Roads. A large Lecture Room with Library, Reading Room, rooms for officers and N. C. Officers, a gymnasium and miniature rifle range are provided. The garage building in the compound accommodates 6 Armoured Cars for the S. V. C. in addition to other motor vehicles, it is at present 2 storeys high, but provision is made to superimpose two or more storeys when necessary.

What will probably interest you most is the cost of all this, and when I say it cost 1¾ million taels, I trust that you will be agreeably surprised that it did not cost more, but you must remember that we have not spread ourselves in the matter of lavish interior decorations and expensive finish. As you will see for yourselves the building is in the main a series of simple rooms. The assessed value of the whole Administration Block site nearly 26 mow in extent is approximately Tls. 1,600,000.

With the growth of the Settlement it is already apparent that the time is not far distant when it will be found necessary to complete the entire block by carrying out the Honan Road frontage in uniformity.

Now Ladies and Gentlemen after listening so patiently to me I will conclude by asking you to drink prosperity to the Municipal Administration and would couple with the toast the names of Mr. C. H. Goffrey late commissioner and Mr. Chas Harpur present Commissioner of Public Works and Mr. R. C. Turner, Municipal Architect, the gentlemen responsible for the carrying out of the Ratepayers instructions to build an Administration Building worthy of Shanghai.

W. S. Hibbard, Clerk of Works of the Public Work's Department has been in charge of the building construction, having supervision over the large gangs of men at work for the last eight years.

Five Nations Tell Bandit To Curb His Lawlessness

(Special to The China Press).

Peking, Nov. 16.—The United States, England, France, Italy and Sweden, through their representatives in Peking, today united in issuing an ultimatum to the Chinese Government demanding the release of all foreigners held prisoner by bandits in Honan and Anhwei within one week.

If the Chinese Government is unable to secure the release of the foreigners who are prisoners in the hands of the bandits the five powers will publish the text of the ultimatum which it is believed is so caustically worded as to cause China a serious loss of prestige throughout the world.

It is said in diplomatic circles today that the action taken by the representatives of the five powers is the strongest that can be taken without further instructions from their home governments.

The Italians joined in the ultimatum because of the capture of Father Gramaldi who was kidnapped while working in the French Catholic mission in Anhwei.

Eight foreigners are still in the hands of bandits in Honan and Anhwei, according to the latest available information gathered by The China Press. Because of the interrupted communications due to the bandits' depredations in Honan and Anhewi the names of all the captured foreigners are not available but those still in bandit hands are believed to be Father Gramaldi of the French Catholic mission in Anhwei, an Italian; Rev. E. Borg-Breen of the Lutheran Mission at Sihsien; Rev. George Holm of the Luthern mission at Chengyanhsien; Rolfe, the 5-year old son of Rev. and Mrs. Borg-Breen; two French railway employes and two others not definitely identified.

20,000 BANDITS THERE

The Rev. Borg-Breen and his small son were captured when the bandits raided the Lutheran Mission at Sihsien. Mrs. Borg-Breen, writing to friends, said that her husband and son were taken away by two separate bands of robbers numbering about 5,000 and that she and Miss Hjeldness, another mission worker escaped. 20,000 bandits were in the surrounding country, she wrote, and they were afraid to leave Sihsien.

Two foreign missionaries, Mr. H. E. Ledgard and Mrs. Soderstrom of the China Inland Mission have already escaped from the bandits. Mr. Legard's dramatic escape was told in two special dispatches to The China Press, and the China Inland Mission headquarters here received telegrams announcing that Mrs. Soderstrom had reached safety after being released near Yingchowfu, just over the Honan border in Anhwei. As she entered the Fu city the bandits were just leaving after setting fire to the city, and Mrs. Soderstrom was recaptured but released within an hour. The city burned while Mrs. Soderstrom was there. Her daughter, who was also held by the by the bandits for a day, was released some time previously.

MANY TOWNS BURNED

Latest available information indicates that Yingchowfu, Sinantien, Mingkong, Lihsintien, Hwangshanpo, Suiping, Chesan, TaMuchang, Shiatso, Shangtsai, Shenku, Sihsien, Chenyang, Kwangchow have been looted and burned by the bandits. Several of the cities are important centers in Honan, being county capitals and walled, and the villages under them have also been raided and destroyed by the bandit armies.

Students at the American School at Chinkungshan have all been taken to Shehow and Hankow because of the bandits' depredations and the students from the Swedish School at Chikungshan are also reported to have been taken to Hankow.

LOOTING CITIES

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, Nov. 15.—The Rev. Mr. Larsen, a Lutheran Missionary at Kwangchow, giving an account of the situation in Honan, stated that very large bands of brigands were looting the cities, interfering with foreign trade, robbing the missions and carrying off French, British and American nationals, including the five-year old son of a missionary.

ALL TERROR STRICKEN

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Nov. 14.—Northern Anhwei is now bandit-stricken and robbers, brigands, highwaymen and daring outlaws are having their day in the absence of efficient government suppression. Ex-Governor Ni Chih-chung was recently kidnapped in Fowyang, and the price put upon his life is one million dollars. Mr. Chen Chow-ying, magistrate of Fowgang, was also carried away, and his life is only worth $5,000 to the bandits.

In addition to kidnapping of fat officials and rich merchants, the bandits raided the town of Fowyang, sacked it, burned part of it and cleaned it of all its valuables, leaving the people to bewail their sufferings on account of the absence of law. Nearby towns are telegraphing to Governor Ma Lien-chia for urgent relief, and Governor Ma, the new man in Anhwei, has appointed Ying Kung-shen and Chen Tehhsin as Commanders of Government Forces for Bandit Suppression.

Similarities In Culture Of China And Egypt Described By Mr. Kliene

Royal Asiatic Society Branch Hears Interesting Lecture On Peoples' Beliefs And Customs

Remarkable similarities existing between the ancient culture of China and Egypt were told in an extremely interesting paper read before the Royal Asiatic Society last night by Mr. Charles Kliene of the Chinese Maritime Customs, who has made a careful and detailed study of the ancient history of the two peoples.

Mr. Kliene based his paper on the assumption that China and Egypt are the two most ancient nations whose records have come down in some connected form and that there is some connection between the two despite the thousands of miles separating them.

Egypt and China show remarkable similarities almost from the dawn of their mythology and history, Mr. Kliene said, beginning from P'an Ku, the first man according to the Chinese, who with axe and chisel toiled for 18,000 years carving the universe out of a vast mass of granite floating in space. When P'an Ku died his breath became the wind, his voice the thunder, his right eye the Sun, his left eye the Moon, the arms and legs the four quarters of the globe, his sweat the rain, his bones the rocks. Mr. Kliene then pointed out that according to Egypt's ancient story Ra, the first man, created the world in practically the same fashion, and according to Egyptian mythology gave his eyes to be the Sun and Moon, while other parts and attributes became definite parts of the world.

MANY SIMILARITIES

Mr. Kliene then traced the similarity of the idea of the Trinity—an idea which he said prevailed in all great religions—with a comparison of Heaven, Earth and Man in Chinese with Isis, Osiris and Horus in Egyptian mythology, and pointed out that Egypt had an organiser of human society who arose from the water half-human and half-fish, and compared his acts with those of Fu Hsi, half-human and half-fish, who also emerged from the water and organised Chinese society in a manner that created the impression they were twin brothers.

Other similarities pointed out by Mr. Kliene in his lecture were the fact that 'mu', which is the root for 'mother' in practically all languages, is an identical word in Chinese and Egyptian; that 'Ra', Egyptian for sun and Jih, which is pronounced Re, are identical characters and hieroglyphics; that the characters and hieroglyphics for moon are absolutely identical in pronunciation in both languages; and that burnt sacrifices were offered by both ancient peoples.

Mr. Kliene also spoke of the great similarity between the great Solar myth and its variations that were entwined in both peoples' ancient history, of the fact that both use white in mourning while other peoples use black, and the remarkable coincidence that both peoples ate 'moon cakes' at their Autumn festivals.

Chinese boys were shaved with the exception of one tuft of hair that was allowed to grow until they reached the age of 12, Mr. Kliene said, and in ancient Egypt the boy Horus is distinguished from the man Horus by the fact that he has long hair in a somewhat similar tuft until he passes that age.

Concluding, Mr. Kliene pointed out one other outstanding similarity, that in ancient Egypt where they had over one thousand gods, but believed in one Supreme Diety, only the high priests and King were allowed to worship the Supreme Being. In China, where there are also many gods, but where a belief in Shang Ti, the Supreme Being, exists, only the Emperor was allowed to worship Shang Ti in the Temple of Heaven.

Secures Postal Job By Assuming Name Of Another Chinese

Impersonation of another Chinese and thereby securing a clerkship in the Chinese Post Office—which the latter had passed an examination brought a six months' jail sentence to one Lou Li-dun in the Mixed Court yesterday.

According to the evidence, the accused learned that the man who took the examination had secured another position, so he assumed the name and was accepted for the Post Office job. During his work letters addressed to the original candidate passed through his hands and he opened them and through complaint of the addressee the fraud was discovered.

STABILISE MARK IS DEMAND OF THE SOCIALISTS

German Government Temporarily To Carry On While Ebert Parleys

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 15.—The Socialists' refusal to co-operate with the People's Party was embodied in a resolution, which was carried by a two-thirds majority, declaring that they would only participate in a Cabinet consistently pursuing a policy of stabilisation of the mark, which is the most urgent requirement and that the People's Party hitherto had not given a guarantee of such a policy.

President Ebert has requested the Government temporarily to carry on. Today he confers with the Socialists and non-Socialists.

Dr. Wirth made a statement to the effect that he had hoped to form a great coalition since the note to the Reparations Commission had been accepted by all parties except the Socialists, but, the latter having refused, it had become an urgent matter to settle the future external policy.

ART EXHIBIT AT B. W. A. ROOMS PLEASES VIEWERS

The exhibition of wood block color prints by Miss Elizabeth Keith, noted English artist, being held under the auspices of the Art Section of the B.W.A. in the club headquarters is well worth seeing.

The prints, which depict Korean, Japanese and Chinese life, are hung in the main club room, at 9 Kiukiang Road. The exhibition is open to the public today and tomorrow from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

The wood cuts made by Miss Keith portray in the main Korean types, landscape and customs of the people although there are a small number of Peking and Japanese prints. Among the most fascinating Korean studies are "Young Korea," "Embroidering," and "A Summer Reflection" which show Korean women and children.

"The Wedding Feast" brings out the customs regarding the Korean wedding day preparations while "The Temple Kitchen" gives a fascinating glimpse into the life of the Korean priests.

"A Fantasy" and "Morning Mists" are two especially splendid prints in the group of landscapes and so cleverly has the artist caught the spirit of the out-of-doors that one longs to spend the colorful days of late Autumn in Korea.

The "Daibutsu" as done by Miss Keith is worthy of note. It is one of the finest studies of the famous Buddha that has ever been shown in Shanghai and this cut alone is worth dropping into the headquarters to see.

The Chinese studies are of interest to anyone living in China, naturally, and a lover of the street life of Peking will find the group of Peking studies fascinating.

The prints are being sold by the artist at very reasonable prices which range from ten to twenty-five or thirty dollars.

"In A Persian Garden" Enjoyed By Large Audience

Under the auspices of the Musical Section of the B. W. A. Lisa Lehman's beautiful song cycle, "In A Persian Garden" was well rendered at the meeting of this section yesterday afternoon in the club headquarters before a large and appreciative audience.

Copies of the verses of Omar Khayyam's famous "Rubaiyat" were given each member, and enabled the audience to more easily follow the song cycle.

Previous to the program, which was given under the direction of Mr. W. T. Dexter, Mrs. Hodges gave a brief talk on the meaning of the "Rubaiyat" and something of the life of the author.

Those taking part in the program were, soprano, Mrs. A. C. Godby, contralto, Mrs. C. E. Barham, tenor, Mr. Dumbarton, base, Mr. E. Morrison, accompanist, Mr. W. T. Dexter.

Tobacco Godown Swept By Flames

A bad fire broke out shortly after midnight yesterday in the tobacco factory godown and offices located at 26 Elgin Road. When the Hongkew Division arrived it was found that the attic and roof in the godown were burning fiercely.

Owing to the wood construction and many bales of tobacco stored in the godown the fire spread rapidly. The Escape from Hongkew was brought into use on the premises as a water tower while the Escape from the Central Fire Station which arrived shortly afterwards was similarly employed on the West side. Several lines of hose were also worked from within and after a fight which lasted nearly three hours the fire was extinguished.

The roof and ceilings of the rooms on the West side of the building on the second floor were badly damaged and much of their contents ensued from water.

Fang Wants To Cut Down China's Troops

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 16.—At the luncheon given by the President yesterday to General Feng Yu-hsiang, the latter informed his host that he desired to inspect the troops of the various provinces, specially Anhui, where he hoped to see disbandment properly carried out.

General Feng also voiced the hope that the Government would draw up regulations clearly defining the powers and duties of the Inspector-General of the National Army. This has been referred to the Cabinet.

JAPAN TO SPEND BILLION YEN BY THE NEW BUDGET

Big Savings Are Shown In Armaments And Reform In Public Works

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 10.—According to the Department of Finance the following is an outline of the Budget for the next fiscal year as approved by the Cabinet:

Ordinary revenue	Y.1,236,000,000
Extraordinary revenue	114,000,000
Total	Y.1,350,000,000
Ordinary expenditure	987,000,000
Extraordinary expenditure	363,000,000
Total	Y.1,350,000,000

Compared with the Budget for the current fiscal year it shows a decrease of Y.9,000,000 in the ordinary section and Y.122,000,000 in the extraordinary section, making a total of Y.131,000,000. In the revenue a decrease, due to the revision of the business, stamp and income taxes, as well as to the abolition of the petroleum consumption tax, is estimated.

In the expenditure a decrease of Y.71,000,000 due to the limitation or readjustment of naval and land armaments, and of Y.65,000,000 due to administrative reform or the postponement of official works is anticipated. At the same time additional outlays of Y.42,000,000 due to the revival of the national loan sinking fund, of Y.11,000,000 as supplementary expenditure for riparian works, and of Y.30,000,000 for State subsidy towards the common educational expenditure, etc., are necessitated.

S'HAI GOLFERS DEFEAT TEAM FROM MANILA BY 10-2 SCORE

Local Players Make Clean Sweep In Foursomes

FERRIER HAS A 75

Visiting Team To Be Guests At Dinner Tonight

The interport golf matches between teams representing the Shanghai and Manila Golf clubs, concluded yesterday at the Kiangwan course, resulted in a rather one sided victory for the home players. The final reckoning, by points, was 10 to 2, with the Shanghai representatives on the heavy end. On Wednesday the local players gained four points in the singles competitions, and yesterday in the four ball contests they added six more, winning all three matches. Yesterday's summary follows:

Ferrier and Roberts, Shanghai, defeated Mason and Grieve, Manila.

Crewe-Read and Barrett, Shanghai, defeated Manderfeld and Nell, Manila.

Beath and Riley, Shanghai, defeated Todd and Gibbs, Manila.

The scoring was by the point system, one point to count for each win in the singles, and two in the foursomes.

It should be said in behalf of the Manila players (although they would be last to say so themselves) that as conditions here were radically different from those in their home country they were greatly handicapped in consequence. Yesterday, besides being cold, was very windy, making it extremely difficult to keep scores down. This was quite in contrast to the tropical weather to which the Manila men have been accustomed.

FERRIER GETS A 75

The logic of the above is in no way nullified by the fact that Mr. Ferrier shot a remarkable 75 in his afternoon round yesterday. This score, in view of the fact that a young gale swept the course, is nothing short of astonishing, and is at least five or six strokes better than his 74 of the previous day, when conditions for low scoring were practically perfect. Had Mr. Ferrier had the same touch on Wednesday that he had in his round yesterday afternoon it is very likely that he would have broken seventy—something that has not yet been accomplished on the difficult Kiangwan course in competitive play. On some of the holes yesterday the players had to hit into the teeth of a smothering wind that doubled the balls back in their tracks unless they were low and very hard driven. On others the cross wind was of such intensity that only the most careful calculations, and placements, enabled the players to hold the line. And yet, in spite of these adverse influences the club champion matched Colonel Bogey stroke for stroke from first tee to eighteenth green occasionally dropping behind a stroke, but always snatching it back just as the Colonel was getting ready to chortle.

BIT OF HARD LUCK

And good as his round was it was marked by a bit of hard luck at the short fifteenth, the "punch bowl," which nineteen times out of twenty is duck soup for this player. This time, however, it proved a tartar upon which he had to waste five strokes—two over Bogey. He had negotiated the long fourteenth in one less that Bogey's allowance, however and immediately set sail on the following hole to make up the other lost stroke, which he did with a brilliant 4. As all the other holes on the homeward journey were in even figures he finished level with the Colonel for a 75, as stated. His afternoon card follow:

Bogey	5	5	4	4	5	3	4	4	3	—37
Out	4	5	4	3	5	4	5	4	3	—37
Bogey	4	3	4	5	6	3	5	3	5	—38—75
In	4	3	4	5	5	5	4	3	5	—38—75

Rev. W. P. Roberts, who shot a 78 on Wednesday, was not quite up to the previous day's effort, his best score yesterday being an 84 in the Public School Team Wins Carlill Cup, Beating St. Xavier's Eleven, 2-1

A very close and well-contested football game between the Shanghai Public School and the St. Xavier's for the Carlill Cup was played yesterday afternoon at the Hongkong Recreation Ground. The former won by two goals to one.

During the twenty minutes of play in the first half, Doong of the St. Xavier's handled the ball and a penalty kick was awarded to the dissatisfaction of many spectators. Madar then took the kick, but Collaco, the great goalie, saved it only to have Jensen of the S. P. S. to score.

Not long after the ball was centered, Gutterres of the S. F. X. C. scored on a fine combination between Costa and Aboitiz. The S. P. S. then came back strong and within ten minutes of play before the whistle blew for the interval, Jensen again scored at a difficult angle, thus making the score 2-1.

No further goals were scored in the second half though both teams struggled hard.

Jensen, Brockett, and Capt. Madar for the S. P. S. were the stars of the day, while Costa, Souza, Allan, Brown, and Doong played well for the St. Xavier's.

Rugby Football Season Starts Here Tomorrow

The Rugby football season will start here tomorrow with a practice game at the Cricket Ground between two teams to be designated as the Colors and Whites. Because of the races and the encampment of the Machine Gun Company, but two teams will be out but it is expected that next week will bring four fifteens out.

There is much interest in rugby football here this year and a four team league will soon be started with fifteens from the Machine Gun Company and Scottish Company, with probably two teams from the Rugby Football Club. The Club is sure of one strong aggregation.

Shanghai will probably send a team to Hankow at China New Year time, when it is anticipated that Tientsin will play there. The local rugby club has sent an invitation to Hongkong, Hankow and Tientsin to send teams here for an interport and it is expected that Hongkong will play.

The local team will be a hummer as all of last year's interporters are in Shanghai with the exception of Gotch and both W. F. Johnston, who was out of the game because of injuries last season, and P. V. Simpson will be able successors to the absent star. Sub-Dean Spencer will not be in the lineup today as he is in Hongkong with the cricket team. He will be back in the game next Saturday.

Today's game will start at 2:45 p.m. Sides will be selected from the following:

Whites—O. F. R. Beynon—O. L. Barnes, E. Bathurst, G. F. R. Bichard, C. M. Campbell, A. C. Lutyens, R. D. Parkin, C. R. W. Thomson and W. Webster—G. E. Goolden and G. D. Nichol—H. E. D. Adams, P. E. Dawson, C. T. Davis, J. R. Harder, F. A. Johnston, E. H. C. Lamb, S. H. Lewis (Captain), C. C. Roberts, R. L. Stewart, J. A. Thompson.

Colors—P. V. Simpson—E. J. Cooke, A. J. W. Evans, G. A. Johnston, D. L. King, H. W. P. McMeekin (Captain), W. Sparks, F. L. Wainwright, L. G. Williams—C. S. Holdsworth and E. A. Simon—E. S. SHANGHAI WINS FROM KOWLOON BY 31 RUNS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 16.—The match between the Shanghai Interport cricket team and Kowloon opened today in ideal weather and on an excellent pitch. Shanghai fielded their full interport team and won by 31 runs.

Kowloon's total was 132. The batting was uninteresting with the exception of the partnership between Major Matthews and B. D. Evans. The former was caught by Divecha off O'Hara when he had scored 42 runs and the latter was bowled by Billings after knocking up 47. Five wickets were taken without a run being scored. Billings took eight for 68 runs and Dr. O'Hara two for 30.

Shanghai were all out for 163. Kowloon's fielding was splendid. Rev. Spencer made 15 runs, Leach 19, Lieutenant Lees 26, Clifford 13, Billings 19 and O'Hara 23 not out. Evans took five wickets for 59 runs.

One of the most exciting moments of the match was when Kowloon had taken nine wickets for 130 and Billings narrowly escaped when Mitchell missed what appeared to be a very easy catch in the slips.

BIG LEAGUERS SLUG WAY TO 13---0 VICTORY OVER WASEDA

Americans Hammer Two Pitchers For 19 Hits, Totalling 36 Bases

THREE HOMERS

Pennock, Boston Southpaw, Allows Japanese But One Clean Hit

Tokio, November 12.—The All-America major league players were out yesterday afternoon to show what they could do with the big stick and such a demonstration of savage slugging as they did give in driving Takeuchi from the Waseda mound after the fourth inning and then in battering Taniguchi's offerings to all corners of the field, as they defeated the speedy nine from the Okuma school, 13 to 0.

It was a riot. It overshadowed all displays of heavy artillery previously witnessed in international clashes in Japan and batted Hunter's men 19 hefty hits which were good for a total of 36 bases.

And while the bat artists were keeping the adding machine busy, Herbert Pennock worked on the mound in magnificent form, allowing the heavy-hitting men from Waseda who scored against the American stars last Sunday only two hits, one of them a weak infield scratch.

"BABE" FANNED TWICE

Pennock retired 10 men, striking out "Babe" Ruth Tanaka, champion slugger of the country, twice. Never have Tokio fans seen Abe's men sent back to the bench in such rapid succession.

Big Leaguers Slug Way To 13-0 Victory Over Waseda

The big league outfield and the infield, strengthened by the return to short of "Doc" Lavan, was airtight behind the Boston southpaw.

In three innings the Waseda batsmen went down in one-two-three order, and in each of the other six periods only four men were allowed to go to the plate. In all save one of those instances Pennock added spice to the game by walking a batter; generally it was the first man up.

The cool snap cut yesterday's attendance at Shibaura to about 5,000, but those who braved a couple of hours on the bleachers in weather made for football instead of baseball were rewarded beyond expectations.

They saw Tokio's prize sluggers powerless before Pennock's speed and hooks; they saw the tamed big leaguers hit and score at will big leaguers hit and score at will, in the way they had read of.

FANS ARE TICKLED

The fans—even the strongest supporters of Waseda—were not disappointed; it was the sort of an exhibition they expected last week-end. Had it been noised around that Hunter's men were going out after big game the bleachers would have been packed.

Riggs Stephenson took charge of the American wrecking crew when he lifted the lid off the fireworks in the second inning, addressing the ball to Tokio Bay and lifting it high over the right-center fence. The young Cleveland star followed this up with a brace of healthy three-baggers in the next two innings. But the home-run smashing didn't stop there.

Kelly topped his record of a double and a single with a circuit drive toward the clubhouse, and Lavan made more brilliant his first day on the Shibaura diamond by ending the third homer of the afternoon over the rightfield fence to finish off with after a pair of singles.

Griffith doubled twice and singled once, while Sewell, Stengel and Hunter each gleaned a brace of hearty one-base smashes and Meusel sent a two-bagger soaring to leftfield. Pennock went hitless, but in five times to the bat he drew three free passes.

FOUR DOUBLE PLAYS

Takeuchi, understudy to Taniguchi at Waseda, started in the box for Abe's aggregation and soon got himself into hot water. He was pounded for 10 singles which netted 17 bases and six tallies before he gave way to Taniguchi as the fifth frame opened. Taniguchi was not in his best form by any means, but that mattered little in the final results for the big leaguers were out after hits, and hits they got.

Takeuchi had given his best, but his team lost confidence as he was hammered about. With Taniguchi at the helm, fighting gamely though hampered by what appeared to be an overworked arm, both the infield and outfield took heart and played with its usual speed and brilliance. Four snappy double plays were chalked to their credit; two of them in particular worthy of the performance of any team.

The Americans scored in all save the first and eighth innings. In the first Hunter was out at home trying to score on a passed ball and a minute later Griffith was out as he attempted to steal a score. In the second frame Kelly was out, but Stephenson started things by lining his homer over the fence. Lavan and Sewell followed in order sending hot singles bounding over second and into centerfield. Pennock drew a walk, but Hunter forced Lavan out at home, and Griffith flied out to rightfield.

CASEY BINGLES

"Casey" Stengel led off with a single in the next period. After Meusel fanned, Kelly grabbed off a two-bagger, and Stephenson scored the two with a triple into the left-center bleachers. He scored himself after Lavan had walked and Sewell was safe at first on Matsumoto's error. The innings ended when Oshita knocked down Pennock's liner to rightfield, and then threw to second in time to get Lavan.

Hunter, Griffith and Stengel got singles in order as the fourth inning opened, the first two scoring. After Meusel had flied out to leftfield, Kubota grabbed a liner from Kelly's bat and doubled Stengel out at third in as pretty a play as has been seen during the big leaguers' visit to Tokio.

Taniguchi took the mound when the fifth inning opened in an effort to limit the extent of his team's defeat, but Stephenson landed on his first ball for another triple into the bleachers. Lavan scored him with a single, and Sewell flied out to Hotta who threw to Umekawa at second in time to catch Lavan.

The inning ended when Stengel fouled out after Pennock and Hunter had been walked and Griffith was safe on a fielder's choice.

MEUSEL DOUBLES

Meusel opened the sixth inning with a double to leftfield and went to third when Kelly singled. Taniguchi decided not to take another chance on Stephenson, walking him and filling the bases. Lavan sent a grounder to Taniguchi, and Meusel was out at home in time for Arita to double Lavan out at first. Sewell singled, scoring Kelly and Stephenson. Pennock walked and went to third on Hunter's single before Griffith flied out.

Stengel was out in the seventh, but Meusel was safe at first on Umekawa's error. Then Kelly deposited the next one outside the leftcenter fence and trotted around the circuit behind Meusel. Stephenson was out, but Lavan followed with his home-run contribution to the scoring column. Sewell flied out to leftfield. In the final frame Pennock and Hunter flied out. Griffith clouted out his second two-bagger for the day, but Stengel was out on a long fly into rightfield.

ONE CLEAN HIT

Twice Waseda advanced a runner to third base, and each time the crowd cried to Tanaka for a home run, but a grounder to short and a strike-out were the best the slugging centerfield could do on these occasions, however.

Umekawa got the only clean hit that the Boston southpaw allowed during the afternoon. It was a slow fly well placed just behind second. Takeuchi followed with a grounder to Pennock, and both runners were out in a pretty double play, Pennock to Hunter and Hunter to Kelly. In the sixth Kubota got a scratch hit down the third base line being safe at first when Stephenson threw.

Olympic National Games To Be Held In Shanghai

also hopes that such a program will call out many more men than formerly so that a greater wealth of material will be available from which to choose. It is therefore desired that not only those who individually have hopes of going to Japan become interested but that many hundreds more for their own good physically as well as for the encouragement of those who do hope to go, will turn out.

In order that this program can be carried out the Contest Committee is appointing sectional and local committees.

In cities or districts where as yet none have been recognised the Honorary Secretary will be glad to have sent to his office the names of capable and reliable men for this work. The physical instructors of schools and some leading citizens are the most logical to carry on this work.

Shanghai leaders in athletics for Chinese, in response to the proposals of the Contest Committee for China, have already met and are planning to carry out the program as far as possible.

Under the Chairmanship of C. G. Hoh of the local Y. M. C. A., representatives from St. John's Shanghai, Nanyang, Fuhtan and other colleges and schools in this district have constituted themselves a voluntary committee for this work.

Their first event will consist of a cross country run to be held in the Kiangwan District on Saturday afternoon commencing just behind the Rifle Range Butts at 2.30. Two events will participate, one for college men who will cover a three mile distance and one for Middle School men who will run a two mile course.

Some 30 or more men are entered for the first and some 60 for the second. The competition will be on a group basis and the first team to will be awarded the trophy. This event is not a closed one, any bona fide Chinese amateur may take part. All that is necessary is that he either send in his name to Mr. Hoh at the Y. M. C. A., Mr. S. L. Zung of the St. John's or appear at the starting point on Saturday afternoon.

The date for the second cross country run is set for December 28. Details will appear later.

S'hai Golfers Defeat Team From Manila

morning, round. In the afternoon, with his partner, Mr. Ferrier, cracking things wide open he did not putt out on some holes, the issue having already been decided by the other member of the team.

VISITORS DO WELL

Messrs. Grieve and Mason, who opposed Ferrier and Roberts, started out in the morning to make a match of it, and were succeedingly admirably until the tiffin hour. At the end of the first eighteen they were all square with the Shanghai duo, due to some very fine team golf. Neither had a particularly brilliant score, but they were working well together, so that when one fell by the wayside the other carried the burden. As both picked up several times their scores were not kept.

As to the other matches, they were rather one sided, and as many holes were not played out no cards were kept. In fact the only complete card of the day was Mr. Ferrier's 75 in the afternoon.

Tonight, at the S. C. club, a complimentary dinner will be given in honor of the visiting golfers, the members of the Shanghai Golf Club acting as hosts. The committee members hope that a representative gathering will be present at this affair, as the meeting with the Manila players has been a great success and one that has afforded the Shanghai club members and players a great deal of pleasure. As one player said yesterday: "This sort of thing is the best part of golf." A statement to which all who have had the pleasure of meeting the splendid sportsmen from the Island capital will gladly testify.

This afternoon, weather permitting, the visiting players will play a round at the Hungjao course after first partaking of tiffin at the club house. They will leave for Manila tomorrow.

Girl Gold Diggers Are Proved Sterling Nuggets

By Domino

The Far East Players brought The Gold Diggers to the Olympic Theater last night and they were very heartily welcomed by the crowds that filled the house. By the way, the Gold Diggers, for the nonce, were all ladies—and ladies of the chorus at that, who were out to get the gold from all the mindless minds that were running around in the vicinity of Broadway. But that bevy of nice looking girls could not disguise the fact that under their flimsy shirts beat about hearts that were filled with sympathy for those who were a little worse off than themselves. If the girls digged for gold they did so in order that they would not find themselves, when the wrinkles came, in the position of "Cissie Gray" who was left selling soap when the footlights proved unkind to her.

Gold digging is a rough game and that is why, I suppose, that Avery Hopwood carried his rather thin plot on some pretty rough lines. Perhaps in the dim past some of my ancestors were Puritans, and that will explain the fact that at times the dialogue came as a bit of a shock. From the laughter that it evoke from the audience I fancy that the majority did not have Puritan forebears—probably all were Cavaliers.

Well, the roughest of the digging. Her frock must have raised the envy of every woman in the house. Her looks undoubtedly appealed to every masculine playgoer there.

Miss Blood is sure to find a ready response to her appeal in Shanghai as she possesses beauty with talent. She did not have a great deal of scope with her part last night but I can imagine some quite sincere work in heavier roles.

A couple of particularly pleasing character studies were supplied by Miss Florence Roberts, who well deserved the big hand that she received. Miss Helen Barnes and Miss Dorris Kemper were both seen to advantage in roles.

To repeat, "The Gold Diggers" were all ladies last night, and my appreciation must be confined to them. The men probably will have a better chance in another play. Regret was very generally expressed that "Tim" Frawley was not in the cast. There was one part that he would have scored heavily in, and that was "Stephen Lee."

As it was the character was good only in parts. However Bernard Nedell showed in patches that he could act, and is only awaiting opportunities that the pretty sure to come in the near future. At times he gave a faithful imitation of Glemby with his legs. Watch 'em, sir.

A warm word of praise must be given to the setting that framed the three acts of the play. It was charmingly decorated and appropriatedly lighted.

Tonight "The Gold Diggers" will be repeated and can be recommended as a pleasant night's show.

I am looking forward to "Anna Christie" when both Tim Frawley and Adele Blood will appear—and "Tim" has a great part.

Exchange Market

In their weekly report on the exchange market, Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows:

Exchange:—The price of silver in London has declined steadily during the past week, today's quotations of 32 15-16 ready and 22⅝ forward, being respectively 15-16 and 13-16 lower than those ruling this day last week. The official T. T. rate on London has fallen to 3-2. Locally the market, in regard to Imports and Exports continues inactive and the bulk of business passing has been for speculators' account. Except for a little steadiness brought into the market through bear covering, which was for one day reflected in the London silver market, the general tone has shewn easiness, and the market closes on the weak side.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 39,443,000 a decrease of Tls. 782,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $35,120,000 a decrease of $1,920,000.

Estimated value Tls. 64,729,000 as against Tls. 40,856,000 held at this time last year.

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 64⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 446¾.

Our official rates here today opened unchanged from yesterday, but as the market was weak from the opening the Sterling rate in the afternoon was dropped to 3s. 1½d., the Gold Dollar rate to 69¾, the Yen rate raised to 65¾ and the other rates changed accordingly.

Our market opened here this morning fairly steady with sellers of Sterling at 3s. 2⅝d. for November-December delivery and of Gold Dollars at 71½ November, 71⅝ December and 71¾ for forward.

As, however, all the silver advices received here today from foreign markets were uniformly weak, banks were not good sellers and the result was that speculators who at the opening had been inclined to sell became buyers. The market therefore quickly weakened off and in the afternoon business in Sterling was done as low as 3s. 1⅞d. for November-December delivery and in Gold Dollars at 70½ November, 70⅝ December and 70¾ for forward.

Just before the close the market steadied up somewhat again closing with sellers of Sterling at 3s. 1½d., ans of Gold Dollars at 70⅝ November, 70¾ December and 70⅞ for forward delivery.

There were sellers of Yen at the close at 68½ for December-January and buyers at 68⅜. Banks were quoting 3s. 2¾d. for Sterling bills, 72½ for Gold Dollar bills and 1100 for Franc bills.

China sold silver in London yesterday and the Indian Bazaars bought a small amount. The undertone of the market is reported as easy.

New York report their market as weak with London offering to sell below the London official price without finding buyers.

Weekly Review Of Shanghai Markets

COAL STOCKS SHORT

In the absence of a settlement having been reached in the strike of coal miners of the Kailan Mines and with the cessation of arrivals of coal from Chinwangtao, the coal market in Shanghai this week has been excited, with a hardening tendency in prices.

Stocks have decreased rapidly, and inquiries for the commodity have been persistent. There appears to be a scarcity of Japanese coal in Shanghai for immediate delivery. The recent arrivals of coal from Japan have been contract cargo, and whatever visible and floating stocks there were on the market have been entirely disposed of.

The arrivals of coal from Japan this week were principally lump and very little dust coal. The strike of the workers of the Kailan Mining Administration, which is an association of two big mining companies, one British and the other Chinese, accompanied by a set of demands which included increases in wages ranging from 10 to 30 percent, an additional month's pay every year and pension equivalent to full pay after 25 years' service; also at least five years' pay to the families of any man dying as a result of his work. In the light of such demands it is not surprising that a settlement of the labor dispute has not been reached, for the demands are what may be termed in vulgar parlance, a "tall order." The Company has offered a ten percent increase to those drawing less than $30 per month, but without result.

Should the strike of workers continue for another fortnight there will be witnessed a big rise in the local market. Prices are already going up, and contract business would be larger were the yen exchange more favorable.

FLOUR MILLS CLOSE

As anticipated, the number of flour mills in Shanghai that have been milling flour has been slowly falling off. Four mills out of 22 had held out from the beginning of this season, and persisted in milling notwithstanding the very discouraging situation that they were facing.

It is always the last straw that breaks the camel's back. So long as Chinese wheat continued to arrive, in however small a quantity, the flour mills continued to carry on. But during the past fortnight arrivals of Chinese wheat have ceased almost entirely, leaving three mills out of the four that were operating to go out of business immediately.

The result of this disheartening situation is that the Changsing, Fengsing and Newfong Mills have shut down, leaving one solitary flour mill in Shanghai to grind flour. The working mill is the Fooshing No. 1 Flour Mill.

It is interesting to record that the Fengsing has sold for December-January 20,000 bags of bran at Tls. 2.40 per picul. This flour mill has purchased American wheat which will arrive here next month, and under the circumstances it would appear that it is going to work spasmodically.

Chinese wheat flour stocks are scarce. Unfortunately for the local flour mills exchange is against them for the import of American wheat.

There arrived this week from the United State 2,500 tons of wheat and 1,500 tons of flour, the consigness of these being Shamoon and Co., Connell Bros., M.B.K. American wheat is arriving in Shanghai at the rate of a thousand tons per week.

Chinese flour is quoted at Tls. 2.05 per sack, while the American grade is called at Tls. 2.10 per sack. The present quotation of American flour is G.$1.45 to G.$1.47. There is no market for Chinese wheat, the nominal rate being Tls. 4 per picul ex-godown Shanghai.

Stocks of wheat bran on the Shanghai market are scarce owing to the stoppage of the local flour mills. The present quotation is Tls. 2.50 but no business has taken place. Speculators had bought 20,000 bags at Tls. 2.40 per bag from the Fengsing mills in anticipation of a demand setting in from Japan when exchange goes down.

No fresh business is reported in American flour or wheat this week.

A decline in the estimate of world wheat production, excluding that of Russia and Mexico, for this year is announced. The output is estimated at 3,012,293,000 bushels, compared with 3,049,074,000 bushels last year. This year's estimated yield indicates an available supply of 3,192,037,000 bushels as compared with 3,273,588,000 last year.

The following excerpt from the Northwestern Miller will prove an interesting item of news to many in the flour and wheat trade:

"The Orient is in the market for flour, but is not willing to pay the price to move it. A few sales have been made recently at $4.90 bbl. less 2 percent, for straights, but with club wheat selling today at $1.14 bu. coast, that price barely covers the wheat cost alone. Inquiries are being received from the Orient for January-February shipments, indicating an anticipated shortage of supplies, but the mills are not interested in quoting so far ahead, in view of the uncertainty as to the future course of wheat prices on the Pacific coast."

YARN MARKET STEADY

There has been a steady tone visible in the cotton yarn and cotton markets during the week, rates appreciating a few points.

There has been a considerable amount of speculative buying, the Nippon Menka being the principal purchasers, and the Chinese the sellers. When this Japanese institution ceased buying prices eased off yesterday.

The situation, on the whole, is not as good as previous weeks. The demand has been small this week and confined to a little buying by Hankow and Hongkong. Hankow bought small quantities of 16 count, the two among themselves taking some 500 bales.

In the meantime stocks in the hands of millowners have been mounting up, and estimates place these at 60,000 to 70,000 bales, against 30,000 previously. The inquiry from Hongkong was confined to 16 count. There was a small volume of trade put through in 10 count but this did not amount to more than 200 bales.

The Nippon Menka had been buying since the beginning of the week but yesterday owing to the continual pressure of sale from Chinese a stoppage in purchasing took place and the market declined a point, or so. This was also influenced to a great extent by the decline in American cotton yesterday.

Sampin has been steady during the week and after going up to yen 230 it declined to yen 223.50, and then went up a little yesterday. The prices yesterday were yen 216.30 November, yen 217.80 December, yen 219.80 January, yen 223 March and yen 234 April.

Chinese cotton has been fluctuating in sympathy with American cotton. The present price of Chinese cotton makes it favorable for export to Japan. Some 2,000 piculs were put through this week with Japan, and it is expected that in forthchcoming weeks there will be large exportation of this to Japan. This buying on Japanese account has sent the price of Chinese cotton up on the Shanghai market. As cotton goes up in price cotton yarn must improve. At present the demand for manufactured yarn is very small, the transactions being mostly of a speculative nature. The legitimate inquiry is restricted.

Closing quotations are as follows:

16 count: Tls. 138 per bale which represents a rise of three points during the week, although it went up as high as Tls. 140 per bale.

20 count: Tls. 150 per bale.

10 count: Tls. 122 per bale.

The present prices are still not remunerative to the mills, with possibly a few exceptions.

The Japanese mills have recorded a large output of cotton yarn last month, compared with the previous month. The 67 spinning mills in Japan last month manufacured 193,326 bales of cotton yarn which was an increase of 14,312 bales over September.

Arrivals of Chinese cotton are good, and the market is steady.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Bankers On Isolation

MOST of the resolutions passed by the American Bankers' Association at its annual meeting in New York had to do with matters immediately affecting their business. Some of these were purely technical, relating to such things as Clearing House examinations. Others were of wider scope, touching upon labor, transportation, agriculture, and measures of general legislation. But one resolution was of an unusual and even extraordinary character. It had to do with the foreign financial and political situation, as it bears upon American interests; and was, in effect, a condemnation of the course of the Washington Administration, while at the same time an appeal to it to make needed changes in its policy.

Probably a great majority of the large number of bankers in attendance upon the meeting were Republicans. They surely had no Partisan motive against the President. Yet they felt compelled to point out the intimate connection between conditions in Europe and the United States, and as guardians of the chief financial resources of America to show how measures adopted by the Government, or rejected by it, are preventing American prosperity from rising to its full flood. They see and say clearly that "there is no possibility of a healthy and normal situation in America until the nations with whom we trade are able to pay us for what they import." This, of course, leads straight to the new tariff, and the bankers do not hesitate to request the President to use at an early day the power entrusted to him to modify the schedules in the interest of "a restoration of our international commerce."

This is surprising and significant enough, but what follows has still deeper meaning. The President is urged to make America's representative on the Reparation Commission an outright official member of that body. The position is also taken that the act of Congress directing our Debt Funding Commission how to negotiate with debtor nations in Europe should be revised so as to make a reasonable settlement of the inter-governmental debts feasible.

Both these implied criticisms of the Washington Administration merge into a larger criticism by the bankers. Their resolution reads: "We believe that the time has come for the Government of our country to formulate the principles on which it will be able to co-operate with the other nations to bring about the needed rehabilitation of European countries and peace in the world."

This is no utterance of dreamers, no demand of idealists. It is the deliberate judgment of hard-headed financiers. They perceive that if the United States undertakes to live for itself it will die by itself. The policy of aloofness is a huge financial blunder. America could not isolate herself if she tried to do it. She is now bound up with the bundle of civilisation, and could not tear herself apart from it if she would. That such a conclusion should have been reached by men whose main study is the economic stability and progress of the United States is certainly something which even purblind politicians, still prating of the danger of foreign "entanglements," cannot ignore.

Attar Of Roses In Trade

Attar, or otto, of roses is a precious, fragrant oil, white or very light yellow, pressed from rose petals in Eastern lands. Used in the bath of Sultanas and other ladies there, and in the toilet of their elegant sisters the world over, surely the collecting of this unguent rarer than any cologne, sweet beyond any other perfume, ought to have a romance about it. At least there is a trade romance, or market adventure, of twenty containers of attar of roses now lying in storage in New York.

Important establishment of that city wrote to a Bulgarian concern for a remittance on a considerable debt. The Sofia merchants replied that they could not remit, the war had prostrated their business. The New Yorkers pressed for settlement, then the foreign merchants answered that they could send some valuable merchandise, naming this exquisite oil. The New York merchants cabled that they did not deal in this; but the twenty containers of attar of roses had been shipped and soon arrived.

The consignees, call them Q, could not handle the stuff. Only three wholesalers, all in New York, call them A. B. and C. deal in attar of roses. So the Q people turned the twenty cylinders, worth their weight in gold, over to B to sell or keep for them.

The B company did not want to buy the goods, having a sufficient supply. A, B and C are jealous rivals, and none of them will buy from either of the others; therefore this precious stuff has remained gathering dust and unsold in B's warehouse.

But any of these big houses will buy from a certain smart agent or factor, describable as Z. Both A and C want the consignment, or some of it, and Z is negotiating with them about it. Perhaps he will divide the lot, selling part to C and the rest to A. Meanwhile the twenty copper cylinders are intact, and each cylinder is worth between two and three thousand dollars.

The Luckiest Man

BY S. E. KISER

The man I envy most is not
A man whose cash is piled in bales;
I never in my life have thought
I'd like to be the Prince of Wales;
The politician may get through
Without mishaps, from worries free,
But, even so, I'm telling you
He isn't envied much by me.

I have no wish to be a judge
With power to sentence men to jail;
I want no rascal with a grudge
To do his camping on my trail;
Permit me also to declare
That I am free from any wish
To go unshaved and linger where
Bait might be tempting to the fish.

Dream, if you please, of winning fame
And being praised by great and small;
I'm not a champ at any game,
The fact disturbs me not at all;
I cannot sing a single tune,
The note that I emit go flat,
But I don't care a picayune;
Caruso's dead; McCormack's fat.

There is a man, however, whom
I envy very much indeed;
He labors in a little room
For pay that barely serves his need;
The fact is that he's in a rut
And may remain there all his life;
No crowds will ever cheer him but
He likes his job and loves his wife.

CHIN CHIN

Now that the Municipal building has been officially opened we may expect a flood of reminiscences from old China hands beginning, "Wal, now, I remember, back when the building was started——"

HARBOR LIGHTS.

Blue twilight drifts across the rippled tide,
Blotting the distant shores, white from the sea
The wind brings whisperings of hulls espied,
And lone spars washing off some troubled lea.

A deepening purple rests upon the flows,
The tide is lapping at the anchored ships,
Then leagues away we mark a flash of rose,
A range light where the far horizon dips.

Starboard and port they break upon our sight,
Flashlights that swim to life and swiftly swoon;
White fires holding steadily through the night,
Mocking defection of the faithless moon.

White lights and red they gleam like precious gems,
A splendid setting for the harbor rim;
The hope of faring craft when midnight hems,
And unseen perils to the surface brim.

Chungking, Nov. 3.—Failure of the American gunboat patrol to provide protection against banditry on the Upper Yangtsze is likely to cause withdrawal of American and other foreign business from the West China district.

American ships in the Upper Yangtsze were forced to adopt armor against bullets from indiscriminate firing of the bandit gangs on the river banks.

The boats also carry large signs imploring bandits not to fire on American merchant ships.

Serum Proves Boon In Fighting Diabetes

Experiments in the treatment of diabetes, hitherto regarded as practically incurable, have met with remarkable success, according to reports by officials of the Carnegie Corporation, which has made an appropriation for research work at the Potter Metabolic Laboratory and Clinic in California. The treatment that is being administered has given relief in practically all the cases under observation.

The ravages of the disease have been checked by application of a serum discovered by Canadian physicians working under Dr. J. J. R. Macleod of the University of Toronto. This serum has been used at the Potter laboratory. Thus far relief has been dependent upon constant application of the serum. It is too early, physicians say, to describe the treatment as a "sure cure" for diabetes, for the experiments at the Potter laboratory have been going on for only about eighteen months.

Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, President of the Carnegie Corporation, who recently visited the Potter clinic and observed the experiments there, has made a report on the study and treatment there of diabetes, for incorporation in the annual report of the corporation.

DR. POTTER STARTED WORK

Dr. Potter's metabolic research began at the French Hospital in New York. He removed to Santa Barbara, Cal., where a metabolic clinic and laboratory was built by public-spirited Californians. The Carnegie Corporation has aided the work by an annual appropriation. Dr. Potter died in 1919, and since then the work has been carried on under the direction of W. D. Sansum.

Intensive studies on the internal secretion of the pancrease had been carried on in the meantime under Dr. Macleod in Canada. It has long been known that some pathology of the pancrease is responsible for diabetes. Dr. F. G. Banting, working under Dr. Macleod, carried on intensive experiments to extract a substance from pancreatic tissues. This substance was first injected into dogs suffering with diabetes. The diabetic symptoms disappeared with the application of the serum, which is known as insulin. Convincing results of the efficacy of the serum were obtained by Dr. Banting in the cases of humans suffering with the disease.

"On account of the admirable facilities in the Potter Metabolic Clinic in Santa Barbara and the opportunity afforded by the close association of laboratory and hospital," Dr. Pritchett's report says, "Dr. Macleod and his associates most generously and kindly communicated to Dr. Sansum and his staff in Santa Barbara such full information as they had and because of the urgent need for such an extract of the pancrease urged their immediate co-operation. With the information thus generously given through Dr. Macleod, the staff of the Potter Metabolic Clinic began strenuous efforts in the insolation of the internal secretion of the pancreas now known as insulin. They were immediately successful and within two months had been able to secure a sufficient amount of insulin to use on nine severe cases of diabetes.

SUCCESS ESTABLISHED

The results have been so convincing that there can be no doubt of the great value of this substance in the treatment of diabetes and it is quite within the possibilities that the discovery may result in the relief and cure of great numbers of people from this scourge. The following cases will illustrate the extraordinary sort of results which have been obtained:

"A patient of 53 years of age was sent to the clinic on the verge of diabetic coma, apparently death within a few days awaited him. Following the administration of insulin he became immediately free from sugar, his diet could be increased to normal and he is rapidly gaining in strength and weight.

"A boy of 12 in extreme illness through diabetes became free from sugar after twenty-four hours of treatment with insulin has remained free although his diet has been increased to practically normal. This boy is gaining weight at the rate of half a pound a day and is leading the type of life that any normal active child would lead. By the older dietary methods partial starvation would have been necessary even to prolong life, to say nothing of restoration to health. The results in the other cases have been equally astonishing.

EXPENSE OF SERUM GREAT

"The problem is of course still in its infancy. Insulin is prepared at present at very great expense. Cheaper methods of production must be devised. A study of the intricate chemistry of the product will undoubtedly add materially to our knowledge of the oxidative processes going on in the body about which practically nothing is known at present. But the great gains seem to be that patients with the use of this new agent will not only be able to be sugar free, but will be able to have normal diets with the strength and health which can come alone from the use of such food.

"The brilliant success which has come from this study and the still more brilliant prospects of the future which it holds out form a source of great encouragement to the trustees of the corporation that their gifts may, if given with discretion, advance the cause of medical knowledge and thereby increase human happiness and usefulness in the most desirable fashion. Mr. Carnegie had always in mind the desire to "find the efficient man and enable him to do his work." Not every research can show the brilliant results which have come out of these investigations, but all patient, long-continued study adds little by little, to the sum of knowledge, enriches life, and helps to turn away misfortune.

"Not the least pleasing feature of this investigation lies in the generous and admirable attitude in which two sets of investigators, each of whom has received modest help from the Carnegie Corporation, have co-operated toward their common end. It was a graceful and generous act on the part of Dr. Macleod and his colleagues to put at the service of the Potter Metabolic Clinic the full results of their important researches, but this action is in entire consonance with the spirit and the purpose of true scientific research."

The World's Future Power

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority On Subjects Of Scientific Interest

I have been studying with growing interest the atlas of the world's water power prepared by the United States Geological Survey. Just now, when everybody is deeply concerned with the problem of conserving coal, this subject comes conspicuously to the front.

The world's coal deposits are not inexhaustible, but its supply of water power is inexhaustible, as long as the sun continues to raise moisture from the sea, and streams nourished by the sun-raised moisture continue to descend from the mountains and the highlands, carrying the condensed water back to the sea.

Coal is a store of solar energy, accumulated in past geologic ages, necessarily limited in amount, and not continuously renewable. It is like a dead deposit in a bank, that does not even pay interest, left by an enormously rich ancestor to descendants who spend it for their living, but are incapable of replacing any of their drafts. It tends toward the limit zero.

Water power is a live deposit of solar energy, continually renewed, so that it can be drawn against without exhaustion. The sun keeps the balance even by means of his unflagging productivity.

Having learned, rather late, that coal cannot always supply his growing need for power and heat, civilised man is at last beginning to take careful account of the world's water power, which until recently was left almost undeveloped. The invention of hydro-electric plants has been the stimulating agency in the utilisation of the energy of descending water, in the substitution of Giant Gravitation for King Coal.

A question of universal interest is: How much of the power has already been utilised, and how much, according to the best obtainable information, still remains to be brought into the service of man. The atlas I speak of undertakes to answer this double question, not only with statistical figures, but with graphic illustrations in the form of maps.

On a series of maps of all the continents, of all the principal countries and of all the States of the Union, suggestive groups of red dots, circles and crosses tell the eye at a glance where the principal sources of water power lie, to what extent they have been brought into actual use, and how much remains for future development.

There stand, for instance, the half dozen continents of the world, each bearing its symbols, showing its rank as a power producer, actual and potential. As one looks at them he is conscious of a glimpse into futurity. He perceives that when coal becomes scarce there may be a great readjustment of industrial geography and of the centers of mechanical civilisation.

He sees, for instance, an astonishing massing of red circles of potential power on the Continent of Africa. It immensely outweighs North and South America combined! It is the earth's premier center of water power. Gigantic Asia is a pygmy in comparison. Does this mean great glory for the Africa of future ages, when she shall once more lead the world as she did in the days of the pyramid builders?

But at present, it is satisfactory to observe, North America is at the head of the column. On no other continent has the utilisation of water power been carried so far. The charts and accompanying statistics show that we have more than twelve million horsepower developed, and sixty million still in the potential state. South America has less than half a million developed, but over fifty million potential.

Europe has nearly nine million developed, and forty-five million potential.

Africa has about eleven thousand developed, but one hundred and ninety million potential.

Asia has more than one million developed, and over seventy million potential.

Australia, including the islands of the Pacific, has less than two hundred thousand developed, and seventeen million potential.

For the world combined the figures are: Developed horsepower, twenty-three million; undeveloped horse power, four hundred and thirty-nine million.

One naturally asks: How does it happen that Asia, the largest of the continents, and the one having the greatest mountain masses, and the greatest number of large rivers, ranks so low in water power? The answer is found in topographic and geographic peculiarities. The vast Siberian plains north of the mighty Himalayas and their compeers, have relatively small rain fall, and the streams do not attain much size until they have progressed far across the low lands.

The east-and-west trend of the mountains north of India produces a barrier that the moisture from the Indian Ocean cannot cross. So, only southern and southeastern Asia have much water power. But in broad equatorial Africa, with its high mountains and numerous rivers, the situation as to rainfall is reversed; hence Africa's pre-eminence in potential water power.

U. S. Court For China

Decisions were handed down Thursday by Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China in the cases of Clarence Le Munyon versus Minnie Y. Le Munyon and Voira Neugent versus Robert Neugent. Both are actions for divorce. In both cases the petitions of the plaintiffs are dismissed.

The court's ruling in the case first named is as follows:

"The petition in this case alleges:

"That plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married at Tientsin, China, on March 10, 1910 at the Consulate General of the United States of America: and lived together as husband and wife until in July, 1910, when defendant wilfully deserted, left and abandoned plaintiff, and departed from their home, with an intention of never again returning to plaintiff and of never again cohabiting with him and living with him as his wife; and that said desertion has now been for more than eleven years. That defendant departed from the jurisdiction of this honorable court and has since remained away therefrom". (Par. 3, 6)

"Certain acts of alleged cruelty during these four months are also charged; but the evidence is confined almost entirely to the charge of desertion and it is clear that the divorce is sought upon that ground. It appears, however, and in fact was mentioned in the evidence, that the defendant brought a similar action in this court against plaintiff, the petition being filed on October 20, 1910; but that before the rendition of a decree therein the proceeding was terminated by an agreement entered into between the parties on January 17, 1911 which recites that unhappy differences have arisen" between them "in consequence whereof they have agreed to live separately," that defendant herein "may and shall henceforth during the life of the said" plaintiff herein "live separate from him as if she were unmarried and shall be free from his marriage contract," etc.

It is evident, therefore, that the principal ground relied upon by this plaintiff is one to which he has voluntarily consented and that he has condoned, and in fact encouraged, the defendant to live apart from him. Such being the case he is not entitled to a decree on the ground of desertion for "condonation applies to all charges of matrimonial misconduct."

"The other ground alleged, even had it been proved is based on occurrences prior to said agreement and more than twelve years ago.

"The bill is accordingly dismission at plaintiff's costs. By the Court."

THE NEUGENT CASE

The Court's decision in the Neugent case is as follows:

"This is an action for divorce, the petition alleging cruelty, non-support and infidelity. Defendant denies these allegations and files a cross-bill alleging cruelty upon which he claims a divorce. There is no averment in either pleading as to the length of residence in China of either party. Nor is there any proof on that point.

"Act of Congress applicable to this jurisdiction provides as follows:

"In an action for the dissolution of the marriage contract the plaintiff therein must be an inhabitant of the district at the commencement of the action and for two years prior thereto, which residence shall be sufficient to give the court jurisdiction without regard to the place where the marriage was solemnised or the cause of action arose."

"It does not appear when the plaintiff came to China nor how long she had resided here when the complaint was filed. Defendant testifies that he arrived in 1916 but whether his residence has been continuous from that date is not stated.

"According to the marriage certificate the cermony was performed on November 21, 1919 but the complaint was filed on February 21, 1921 exactly fifteen months later. There is no evidence therefore upon which we could base a finding that plaintiff has met this jurisdictional requirement nor that even defendant has regarding his cross-bill.

"We would be loth to dispose of the action finally on this ground without allowing opportunity for amendment, were the evidence in other respects such as to afford a clear showing of the right to relief. But the evidence produced by plaintiff, on all the grounds except desertion, seems to be fairly balanced by defendant's evidence. Moreover there was no cross examination of plaintiff's witnesses whose testimony was taken by deposition nor does it appear that the notice prescribed by the statute was given to defendant, the introduction to the deposition merely reciting that it was taken "pursuant to notice and adjournment." In such cases the notice is the basis of the whole proceeding and the original or a copy of it should accompany the deposition.

"Plaintiff's charge of infidelity is based entirely upon her statement that she saw defendant in a Chinese woman's house "sitting across the table from her and making love to her." Just what force this statement which is denied by defendant is entitled to could only have been determined by proper cross examination. Plaintiff's charges of cruelty appear to be more than met by similar charges on defendant's part corroborated by disinterested testimony. Defendant indeed admits that he left plaintiff but he claims that this was caused by her violent temper and ill treatment and there is authority (3) for the proposition that this would not constitute desertion under such circumstances. In view of the length of time allowed the parties to produce their evidence we doubt if any different situation would result from directing an amendment.

"But regardless of this the evidence is wholly insufficient to justify a decree for either party because of the failure to prove the jurisdictional requirement of residence.

"The complaint and cross complaint are accordingly dismissed without award of costs to either party. By the Court."
